Budget 2025-26: Show Me The Money

The Government's big moment in the 2025-26 Federal Budget was the personal income tax cuts. Income tax cuts are a dazzling headline, but in reality, they deliver a tax saving of up to $268 in the 2026-27 year, with a tax saving of up to $536 from the 2027-28 year.

At the same time, the Australian Taxation Office has been allocated almost $1bn in funding to extend and enhance its compliance programs.

Two previously announced measures of note that have not passed Parliament but remain in the Budget are:

- Tax on super accounts above $3m (a 30% tax on future earnings for superannuation balances above $3 million); and
- The $20,000 instant asset write-off for small businesses for 2024-25.

Both of these measures have stalled in Parliament and, assuming they are not approved in the final days of Parliament, will lapse when an election is called.

Budget 2025-26 is a budget for voter appeal with over $7bn in additional spending measures in 2025-26 and over $20bn across five years. Most measures extend previously announced and Budgeted items for another year. Key initiatives include:

Energy

- $180bn to deliver a $150 energy bill rebate extension until the end of 2025.

Healthcare

- $8.5bn on Medicare for increases to Medicare payments, 50 new urgent care clinics, and a bulk billed GP service.
- $1.8bn over 5 years for cheaper medicines on the Pharmaceutical Benefits Scheme.
- $240m for women's health - reproductive health and menopause

Education

- $500m to provide a 20% cut to HECS-HELP debt for students and a realignment of the repayment schedule to reduce the amount required to be paid (from 1 July 2025).

Housing

- $800m to expand the 'Help to Buy' scheme, reducing the deposit required to buy a home by co-buying with the Government.

Families

- Three days of subsidised childcare for families with young children (income-tested) from 1 January 2026, replacing the Child Care Subsidy activity test.

Lifestyle

- From August, the excise on beer will be frozen for 2 years.

Economically, trade tensions have magnified global uncertainty. Global growth is already subdued. The indirect effect of tariffs is estimated to be nearly four times as large as the direct effect on Australia, reflecting the relative importance of affected trade flows between Australia, China, and the United States.

Australia's economy is expected to grow, albeit slowly, at 2.25% in 2025-26 and 2.5% in 2026-27.

The Budget will be in deficit at—$42.1 bn in 2025-26 before improving marginally but remaining in the red.

The tax rate for the $18,201-$45,000 tax bracket will reduce from its current rate of 16% to 15% from 1 July 2026 and then to 14% from 2027-28, at a cost of $648m over four years.

Medicare levy thresholds increased for low-income earners.

From	1 July 2024

The Medicare levy low-income threshold exempts low-income earners from having to pay the levy. From 1 July 2024, the threshold for the exemption will increase.

The change will mean low-income earners will pay less when they lodge their income tax returns for 2024-25.

	2024-25	2025-26
Singles	$26,000	$27,222
Families	$43,846	$45,907

The threshold changes come at a cost of $648m over 5 years.

Announced $150 energy bill relief

From	1 July 2025
------	-------------

Foreign resident CGT amendments delayed

How foreign residents interact with the tax system was scheduled to become effective on 1 July 2025. These changes have now been delayed.

The start date for proposed amendments to the capital gains tax (CGT) rules for foreign residents has been delayed until 1 October 2025 at the earliest, and potentially later depending on the passage of the reforms through Parliament.

The changes would broaden the range of assets subject to CGT for foreign residents when they dispose of them, amend the rules determining whether the sale of shares in a company or units in a trust is subject to CGT, and require foreign residents to disclose transactions involving shares or trust interests with a value of at least $20 million to the ATO before they occur.

Announced 2-year ban on foreign ownership of established homes

MIT amendments delayed

The extension of the cleaning building management investment trust (MIT) withholding tax concession was due to commence on 1 July 2025. This has now been delayed until 1 January, 1 April, 1 July, or 1 October after the Act receives Royal Assent.

The Government will also amend the tax laws to clarify arrangements for MITs to ensure that legitimate investors can continue to access concessional withholding rates. The changes will apply to find payments from 13 March 2025 and will complement the ATO's increased focus in this area to prevent misuse – see Taxpayer Alert 2025/1.

‘Help to Buy’ program extended.

The Government’s ‘Help to Buy’ program reduces the deposit required to buy a home by providing an equity contribution. Under the program, Housing Australia provides eligible participants with a Commonwealth equity contribution of up to 30% of the purchase price of an existing home and up to 40% of the purchase price of a new home. That is, they will give you the money and take a stake in your home.

Initially, to be eligible for the program, the income threshold for a single was $90,000 and, for joint participants, $120,000. The Budget increases this threshold to $100,000 and $160,000, respectively. Additional conditions apply.

The program is not currently available to applicants.

Business & employers

Non-compete clauses to be banned

Date	From 2027

The Government has announced that it will ban non-compete clauses for low and middle-income employees (under the Fair Work Act, the high-income threshold is currently $175,000). Non-compete clauses are conditions in employment contracts that prevent or restrict an employee from moving to a competitor.

Back in April 2024, Treasury released an issues paper for consultation on Worker non-compete clauses and other restraints. The review stated, “The direct consequence of a non-compete clause is that it hinders competition among businesses: it disincentivises workers from leaving their current job, creating a barrier to new and existing businesses' entry and expansion.”

The Government is also making changes to competition law to prevent businesses from:

- Fixing wages by making anti-competitive arrangements that cap workers’ pay and conditions without the knowledge and agreement of affected workers.
- Using ‘no-poach’ agreements to block staff from being hired by competitors.

Announced Beer tax paused and benefits for wine and alcohol producers.

Date	August 2025 (beer excise) 1 July 2026 (other measures)

Indexation on the draught beer excise and equivalent customs duty rates will be paused for two years from August 2025. This means that the price of beer won’t go up because of Tax.

Support is also provided under the Excise remission scheme for manufacturers of alcoholic beverages, with caps for all eligible brewers, distillers, and wine producers increasing to $400,000 per financial year from 1 July 2026 (up from $350,000).

Trade tariffs extended on Russia and Belarus.

The Government has extended an additional 35% trade tariffs imposed on goods produced or manufactured in Russia or Belarus. The measure is symbolic support for Ukraine, as it delivers a negligible increase in revenue over five years.

Government & regulators

Almost $1bn to the ATO for tax compliance

Date	From 1 July 2025

The Government has set aside $999m over 4 years for the ATO to expand its compliance programs:

- Tax Avoidance Taskforce
- Shadow Economy Compliance Program
- Personal Income Tax Compliance Program
- Tax Integrity Program (medium and large businesses and wealthy groups)

The compliance programs are expected to deliver a threefold return of $3.2bn.

$700m external contractor cost-cutting

The Government intends to further reduce its use of consultants, contractors, and labour hire. The budget estimates that continuing cuts to external labour will save the government $718 m in 2028-29.

The economy

Growth

Australia's economy is expected to grow, albeit slowly, at 2.25% in 2025-26 and 2.5% in 2026-27.

Ex-Tropical Cyclone Alfred's direct impact on economic activity is estimated to be up to 0.25% of GDP.

We're back in a deficit.

The underlying cash balance will be a deficit of—$42.1 bn in 2025-26 before improving but remaining in the red for several years.

Debt is also higher, rising from 18.4% of GDP in 2023-24 to an estimated 21.5% in 2025-26, rising to 23.1% by 2028-29.

Employment

The unemployment rate has stayed low, the participation rate remains elevated, and employment has grown by more than one million people since May 2022. Around 80% of jobs created in the private sector since the June quarter 2022 were in the private sector.

Unemployment is expected to peak at 4.25%.

Wages

Annual real wages have grown for five consecutive quarters and are forecast to grow by 0.5% in 2024-25.

The Wage Price Index (WPI) grew by 3.2% through the year to the December quarter of 2024 and is expected to grow by 3% through the year to the June quarter of 2025 and 3.25% to June 2026.

Inflation

Inflation is expected to be 2.5% through the year to the June quarter of 2025.

The moderation of inflation was helped by cost of living relief and a decline in petrol prices towards the end of 2024. Electricity rebates and indexation of rent assistance (Commonwealth and State) reduced headline inflation by 0.75% through the year to the December quarter of 2024.

Global tensions

Economically, trade tensions have magnified global uncertainty, and global growth is already subdued. The indirect effect of tariffs is estimated to be nearly four times as large as the direct effect on Australia, reflecting the relative importance of affected trade flows between Australia, China, and the United States. Retaliatory tariffs, if they occur, will only amplify losses in real GDP.
